music & orchestra

Our Prague tour offers the fantastic opportunity to be coached by the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra and learn about western classical and folk music traditions.

what will students do?

Students will enjoy a half day workshop with the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra in the Czech Republic's finest concert hall and meet some of its players. They will explore the fascinating musical history of the city through the lives of its composer, Antonin Dvorak, and find about the local tradition of mechanical music-making devices at the Hořovice Chateau. They will see the original art nouveau organ at Municipal House and spend an evening at the local puppet theatre.

what will students learn?

Students will have the chance to explore a rich and varied music making history, both through practical tuition and through the exciting history of Prague's composers. They will get to enjoy musical experiences, both as performer and audience and will learn something about the ideas behind the music they play and hear.
